NEW COAST ROAD WITHOUT DANGEROUS CURVES AND GRADES

Motorists can now travel on a newly opened road to Torrey Pines mesa which eliminates the La Jolla or Biological grade. This new road begins at the state highway immediately south of La Jolla Shores and rejoins the highway at the same point where the Rose canyon road connects with it. The road is not paved but has a hard surface and there are no dangerous curves or heavy grades.

PLAN TO LICENSE BUILDING CONTRACTORS

It is announced that an ordinance providing that all building contractors be licensed to conduct business and placed under bond for the faithful performance of their contracts, has been prepared by Oscar Knecht, city building inspector, and will be presented to the council for approval and passage.

STRAND RADIO CO. INTRODUCES FINE IDEA OF WEEKLY PROGRAM

Special attention is called to the weekly radio program set forth in detail by the Strand Radio Co. in their advertisement in another column. It is a fine idea introduced by the enterprising proprietor, W. W. Deuel, for the benefit of radio fans throughout the beach districts. An excellent nightly program prepared by the National Broadcasting company is presented over the Pacific coast network of stations which includes KFI, KPO, KGO, KGW, KHQ, KFOA and KOMO with KFI particularly covering this section of Southern California. There's everything from inspirational speeches, biblical drama with symphonic orchestral setting, famous operas and greatest plays to the week's best bits for the programs. Tune in and enjoy 'em.

WASH 'EM AND DRY 'EM WITH ELECTRICITY

"Uncle Charlie" Hill, of the Strand Appliance Co. in the Kraft building on Newport avenue, says, "The fear of rain on wash day is largely removed by a new type of electric clothes dryer. It is an upright barrel of enameled metal, and a whirling container within the outer shell revolves at high speed driven by a motor. It 'wings' clothes ready for the line in three minutes and in ten minutes, on rainy days, dries them for ironing. The appliance sells for about half the price of a standard electric washer."

O. B. LIBRARY MARGARET RANKIN, LIBRARIAN

COUNTY TAXES FOR BEACH PROPERTY ARE ALSO GOING UP

County Assessor George Moulton announces that he is preparing to turn the assessment rolls over to the board of equalization body from July 5 to July 18. The chief increase in valuations has been placed on coast property. From Point Loma to Oceanside, the new assessments being from 30 to 300 per cent higher. The basic tax rate will probably remain about the same as last year, but beach valuations have been advanced on account of improvements and up go the taxes accordingly.

FAULTY PETITIONS BARRED BY COUNCIL IN NEW ORDINANCE

Owing to the filing of many faulty petitions with the city council, an ordinance was unanimously adopted by that body this week, requiring all persons who circulate petitions to make affidavit before filing them with the city clerk that the signatures attached are the valid signatures of the persons they represent. The new law will apply to all petitions for street improvement, street lighting and matters where assessments are to be levied.

COMPLIMENTARY DANCE FOR OPENING OF SUNSET MARKET SATURDAY NIGHT

Proprietor Edw. H. Wickern has made special arrangements for a general good time to mark the opening of the Sunset Market this Saturday night, June 18, at the corner of Niagara avenue and De Foe streets. The Rungelow orchestra will furnish the music for the evening of dancing and neighborly hilarity. A jolly guessing contest will be featured with a splendid prize for the winner. Everything is free and the invitation is open to all.

H. J. Warren, of Wenrich & Warren, visited his valley ranch near Calexico this week, returning Thursday with some special samples of cantaloupes in a 'pony crate.'

AN APPRECIATION

Point Loma High School, June 14, 1927.
Mr. Kirk Smith, Editor "The Beach News,"
Ocean Beach, California.
My Dear Mr. Smith:
We want to thank you for your kindly courtesy and the generous space you have given in your paper this last year to the Point Loma High School news.
We feel that it has meant much to our High School and has given an opportunity to our students for very valuable work in writing and being responsible for these items.
Very sincerely,
EDNA H. GILLESPIE, Vice-Principal.

"THE POINTER" IS PERSONAL AND PERTINENT OF POINT LOMA 'HI'.

Dedicated "to those who have given so generously of their ability, energy and time; whose sympathy, patience, understanding, and love have made Point Loma high school what it is and established high ideals and scholastic standards," the first annual edition of "The Pointer" has been published and is being circulated among friends and admirers of the splendid institution. It is an excellent production of fifty pages, beautifully bound in maroon and lettered in gold, forming the color combination of Point Loma "Hi." The staff chosen by Senior A class for the publication of the first annual consisted of Samuel Lipssett, editor; Katherine Hayden and Annabel Cooke, associate editors, and Clifford Wells, business manager. And it is immensely to their credit that they have performed their duties, faithfully, ably and most successfully. "The Pointer" is a highly creditable publication to all who aided in putting it forth. The description matter is short and snappy, the arrangements of departments well devised and a ser-

BACCALAUREATE SERVICES

The Point Loma high school graduating class will hold its baccalaureate service in the Baptist church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The order of service will be as follows: Processional, "Ancient of Days"; invocation, "Come Thou Almighty King," congregation; scripture, Mr. Pete W. Ross; prayer, "Send Out Thy Light," (Gounod), junior girls' glee club; solo, "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains," Mercedes Millar; offertory, solo, "The Earth Is the Lord's," Kenneth Crosby; "Invictus," boys' senior glee club; sermon by Rev. W. S. Dunn, "The Encouragement of Youth"; "O God, Our Help," congregation; benediction.

MILITARY REVIEW AND GRADUATING EXERCISES

Responding to a cordial invitation to the public by Col. Thos. A. Davis, a large and appreciative audience enjoyed the spectacle of the splendid military review, followed by a very interesting graduation exercises at the San Diego Army and Navy academy in Pacific Beach last Wednesday. Beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning a parade by the entire cadet regiment was reviewed by Rear Admiral J. McKeen commandant of the Eleventh Naval district and at 10 o'clock the senior class and other cadets were addressed by Rev. Josiah Sibley, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Pasadena.

Upon the conclusion of Rev. Sibley's talk, Col. Davis presented the diplomas to the forty-two members of the graduating class.

"Buddies," the commencement play of the graduating class, was presented at the academy auditorium last Tuesday night. The play was given under the direction of Mrs. William C. Atkinson, and proved a source of delight to a large and representative audience in the beautiful new auditorium.

STRAND THEATRE

Saturday the screen's greatest race track picture, "Down the Stretch," starring Marian Nixon. An inside story of the race track, depicting in authentic detail the thrills, joys and terrors behind the scenes of every big race. And with all the drama that will excite, thrill you and draw a few tears as well. A truly great picture of the turf that outshines everything of the sort ever seen on the screen before, and it is real. A Clyde Cook comedy, "Wondering Papas," news weekly and "Poland Nation Reborn," scenic.

Sunday and Monday, Bebe Daniels in "Senorita," a romantic comedy drama of the type that Bebe does so well, a story of a girl who wishes she had been born a boy and who dons masculine garb to the confusion of the hereditary enemies of the Hernandez family. Here is a joyous saga of love and adventure in South America, the sort of a picture that is admirably suited to her buoyant personality and brilliance. "A Soap-suds Lady," comedy and "Hitting the Rails," fable.

Tuesday and Wednesday, Clara Bow and Esther Ralston in "Children of Divorce," the story of two poor jazz orphans of today, fatherless, motherless, victims of divorce, taxicabs their cradles, blaring saxophones their lullaby, too young, too rich, too beautiful, no mother to guide them, no father to chide them; sophisticated at sixteen, thrill jaded at twenty, always restless, heart hungry dancing down the primrose path. Can they find love and happiness? Poor, wild, innocent children of divorce. The news weekly and "Fishing Snookums" a newly-wed comedy.

Thursday and Friday, Lew Cody in "The Gay Deceiver," with Carmel Myers, Roy D'Arcy, Dorothy Phillips and Marceline Day. A matinee idol's tangled romance. He thought he could bend the wedding ring, but oh boy, what he learned about women and wives. The lovely ladies fluttered about him like moths around a flame, and then an amazing event brought back into his life the wife and daughter he had forsaken for the pursuit of pleasure. It's funny and exciting. "My Kid," a juvenile comedy and the fourth chapter of "The Fire Fighters."

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

Over one hundred thousand persons were massed on the slopes that recede from Carquinez straits when a varied program of the formal opening of the $8,000,000 bridge took place last Saturday. These spectators included four Governors, United States Senators and Congressmen, Mayors and civic representatives of many California cities, all guests of honor, 50,000 automobiles, it is estimated, were parked near by. The bridge was accepted over the protest of seven steamship companies, who severely criticised the protection around the central pier of the bridge and expressed fear that if a large ship should ever hit this pier, the entire bridge would collapse. A crash against one of the forty by forty foot piers cannot be forestalled with certainty, it is set forth, because of strong tides, heavy fogs and the necessity of turning vessels around numerous pier heads in the vicinity.

Pouring of concrete on the government's $1,000,000 dam at Stony Gorge, forty miles northwest of Orland, Glenn county, the second unit of the Orland colonization project, is now under way. The dam, 125 feet high and 860 feet long, will create a lake 100 feet deep, from which water will be released as needed down Stony Creek to the 20,000-acre colony. It will be completed in the fall of 1928. The project is being served by the East Park reservoir, but despite the fact that in some years the supply has not been adequate to meet requirements, the settlers have been successful. With the Stony Gorge Lake assuring a plentiful supply an active campaign for further colonization is being directed by Dr. Elwood Mead, United States Commissioner of Reclamation. Dr. Mead plans to have 5000 settlers on the land, each farming an average of twenty acres.

Improvements on Modesto's aviation field, making it one of the best airports between San Francisco and Los Angeles, have been completed. The field, a half-mile long and 600 feet wide, has been leveled and dragged until it is as smooth as a baseball diamond. A large cement marker, visible at a great height, has been placed in the center of the field. The marker is seventy-five feet long and is shaped like a cross. It takes the place of a chalk marker. The cross is a landmark and guide for airmen and it enables them to land at either end of the field, depending upon the direction of the wind. A wind cone has also been placed on the field, which shows the direction of the wind.

The United States land office at Visalia, largest in volume of receipts in America, will shortly be moved to Sacramento to be consolidated with the local office. This announcement was made in Washington by Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior. It was the original plan to move the Visalia office to Los Angeles, but this plan has been abandoned in line with the government's policy of concentrating its land offices in the capitals of the various states. The move is taken to mean that Sacramento will shortly become the principal land office of the state. The San Francisco office will be abolished and moved there on June 30th.

The Sierra Tavern, Truckee's finest hotel, and center of life for motion-picture actors, working in the mountains on snow pictures, was burned last week. The fire started in the elevator shaft and soon enveloped the entire building. Thirty-two men and women guests escaped with practically all their personal belongings. The building was five stories high and contained ninety rooms. The three upper stories had just been completed. The hotel was owned by Tim O'Hanrahan, veteran hotel man of Truckee, whose original Sierra Tavern was burned in 1923. The loss is estimated at $80,000, partly covered by insurance.

California will receive some advertising by the change in names of the West Coast Guard divisions July 1. What is now the southern division, with headquarters in San Francisco, will be known as the California division, and the old northern division, with headquarters at Seattle, will be the Northwest division. Cape Blanco, Or., will be the dividing line between the two divisions. The change in nomenclature has been made, according to Lieutenant F. L. Austin, acting division commander, because the term southern division is misleading and confused with the gulf division.

Richard McIvers, the Harvard graduate who was contented to be caretaker at Deer Lick Springs, or Columbus Springs, in Trinity county, for seven years, will bequeathing nearly everything he had to his friend in Redding, George E. Dean, who will receive about $3,000.

In spite of the summer-like weather of the past two weeks, the snow pack is lingering longer in the high ranges of the Sierra Nevada than it has for many years, giving new assurance of a plentiful summer water supply for the interior valleys. While the snow pack is regarded with pleasure by agriculturists and power interests, it is not so good for motorists yearning for an automobile migration into the high altitudes or over into Nevada. The deep snow blanket, well frozen, will keep many mountain highways closed to travel for some time to come.

Approval has been given by the War Department for the erection of a bridge across the Sacramento river 3000 feet below Freeport. The bridge will connect the Lisbon district with Freeport and will be built jointly by Sacramento and Yolo counties. It is of the bascule type, with a lift 200 feet in the clear. The structure is to be about 850 feet long and 3 feet above high water.

William Rutheford, principal of the Galt High School, who was appointed official representative of the California High School Principals' Association, will attend the American-Austrian Institute at Vienna during the first part of July. He will also sit as one of the representatives from the United States at the International Institute of Education, which meets at Lacarno, Switzerland, the first of August.

Supplementing tests which determined the horizontal movement of the earth's crust following the disaster of 1906, efforts are now under way by the Coast and Geodetic Survey to establish the vertical movement, according to Capt. Paul Whitney. Thus far, he said, the figures show only slight movement, but the work is being continued to eliminate any inaccuracies which might arise through partial triangulations.

A pine cone unearthed during mining operations near Grass Valley, Nevada county, has aroused the interest of the Carnegie Institute, and is to be examined minutely by scientists in the belief it dates back to prehistoric times. L. G. Beloud, miner who discovered the cone, announced that he has been advised that the specimen comes from a variety of pine tree no longer found in the Sierra Nevada and may be countless centuries old.

A group of big taxpayers of Alameda county will take court action to compel the return of approximately $6,500,000 paid in taxes it is announced. That figure is equivalent to half the total taxes paid to the county. It is said that there are 140 taxpayers involved and that their action will be based on an alleged error by the Board of Supervisors in fixing the tax rate "inside," which applies to the city limits of Oakland.

California's infant mortality rate was only 62.5 per thousand during the last year, the lowest in the history of the state, it is announced by the State Board of Health. The 1926 record was contrasted in the announcement with rates of 63.5 in 1925 and 67.1 in 1924. The lowest rate among the principal cities of the state last year was 33.1 in Alameda. The San Francisco rate was 49.7 and that of Los Angeles was 58.9.

Luther Burbank, internationally known naturalist, who died at Santa Rosa April 11, 1926, left an estate amounting to $168,624.22. It was disclosed when his will was admitted to probate in the superior court last week. Of this amount $62,400 represents real estate and $106,224.22 personal property, stocks, bonds and cash. His widow, Elizabeth Burbank, sole heir and executrix, filed a petition for distribution of the estate.

An anti-gangster bill, designed to prevent repetition in California of eastern crimes and underworld wars in which machine guns have been used, has been signed by Governor C. C. Young. The bill, sponsored by San Francisco police authorities and introduced by Assemblyman Leland R. Jacobson, makes it a felony for any civilian to own a machine gun. The punishment is fixed at three years in prison or a $5,000 fine, or both.

Assemblyman Frank L. Coombs' bill providing state aid in the care and treatment of crippled or physically handicapped children has been given approval by Governor Young. The legislation affects all physically handicapped persons under the age of 18 years whose relatives are financially unable to provide them with treatment. An appropriation of $45,000, including a revolving fund, is made available in carrying out the program.

An abandoned well beneath a building in Modesto's business district was discovered while renovations were being made. City Engineer Frank Rossi estimates that the well was bored forty years ago when parts of the present day business district was considered the "country." The well is 40 feet deep and 4 feet in diameter. The masonry is in excellent condition and although the well is dry it could be made to yield water with little work, Rossi said.

Governor Young and Earl Jensen, director of State institutions, will be urged to reconsider plans to establish a home for narcotic addicts in the vicinity of Sonoma. The plea, which is expected to be sent the chief executive in the form of a protest from the citizens of Sonoma, followed a caucus of more than a score of prominent business men. According to announced plans of State officials the home was to be established on the site of the former Home for Delinquent Women, destroyed by fire.

Miss Inez Moore, 28, of Yuba City and Hugh Pryce Jones, 29, deputy coroner of Sutter county, were married last week in the dome of the State Capitol, 300 feet above the ground. The ceremony was said to be the first wedding performed in the Capitol dome in sixteen years. In early days, old-timers around the statehouse recall, being married in the dome was quite a fad with brides and grooms. But, for some reason, the custom died out and best recollections are that prior to last week's ceremony, the last dome wedding was in 1911.

The Balkan Puzzle

IF YOU will look over a map of Europe you will see three great peninsulas jutting into the seas that wash the south shores of the continent. The southernmost and farthest east of the three is known as the Balkan peninsula. It comprises Turkey in Europe, Greece, Serbia, Bulgaria, Montenegro, eastern Roumelia, Rumania and other lesser divisions. Incidentally, that same peninsula has for a thousand years been the hotbed of revolt, intrigue and violence.

No other district of the same size contains so many races, nor so many people who are so widely different in religion, politics, customs and characteristics. This jumble of nationalities dwells side by side, yet never blending. Turk, Greek, Bulgar, Albanian and a half score of other peoples live shoulder to shoulder, yet each sharply divided from all the others. The Turk is the bully of the peninsula. The other races spent centuries fighting and intriguing against each other, but have merged their various difficulties in a common hatred against Turkey. The Turks, strongest of all Mahomet's followers, became masters of the peninsula in the Thirteenth century, being at that time the foremost military power of the world.

Most of the Balkan states are Christian. For this reason, as well as because of the frequent plots and revolts against the sultan's government, Turkey has, from time to time, punished her rebellious subjects by wholesale slaughter and outrage. The Armenian and Macedonian massacres have, at one period and another, aroused the horror of all civilized countries.

In May, 1876, Bulgaria and Herzegovina (then Turkish provinces) started one of the periodical insurrections. The peasants of the Batak district of Bulgaria were preparing to rise when suddenly a large Turkish force under Achmet Agha appeared, surrounded the town of Batak and commander the natives to yield; promising that not one of them should be harmed. With a credulity unusual in people having experience with the "Unspeakeable Turk," the patriots obeyed. Then the massacre began. The prisoners—men, women and children alike—were slaughtered like sheep. Some took refuge in a church. It was burned over their heads. Achmet Agha received a decoration from the sultan for this great killing.

At news of the outrage the six great European powers sent a formal protest to the sultan. He had, earlier, promised reforms, but had disregarded his pledges. Now he gave the envoys no satisfaction whatever. This was the chance for which Russia had waited. Twenty years earlier Turkey (backed by England, France and Sardinia) had beaten Russia in the Crimea. The wound still rankled. Russia, moreover, had for a long time yearned to absorb her eastern rival or to annex as much of the latter's territory as possible. The other nations, however, had no idea of allowing the "balance of power" to be thus shifted, and Russia had been able to find no occasion to promote her schemes. Now, under pretext of avenging the injuries inflicted on Balkan Christians, the czar declared war (1877) against Turkey.

A Russian army crossed the Danube June 27. On July 13 General Gourko made the difficult passage of the Balkan mountains and advanced on Adrianople, but was driven back. In December he recrossed the Balkan range, vanquishing a Turkish army of 32,000 at Shipka pass (January 9, 1878). Osman Pasha, the sultan's best general, meantime had held his own against the invaders and had at length occupied the city of Plevna. Here he endured for twenty weeks a memorable siege against superior numbers, but was in the end forced to surrender. With the fall of Plevna the Turkish cause weakened, Philipopolis and Adrianople were taken, and the Russian armies marched unchecked on to Constantinople.

Here, however, with the fruits of victory within their very grasp, the conquerors were halted by the powers. The old menace of "destroying the balance of power" seemed about to be fulfilled, and the Russians were forbidden to enter the Turkish capital.

By the peace treaty of San Stefano, however, Rumanian Bessarabia and part of Armenia were ceded to Russia. Bulgaria was made a principality with home rule; Rumania, Serbia and Montenegro were declared free countries, and Bosnia and Herzegovina came under Austro-Hungarian sway. So ended the Russo-Turkish war of 1877-1878. Turkey, far from profiting by her lesson, continued to oppress her Christian provinces. In 1895 massacres of Christians in Armenia, and even in Constantinople, horrified civilization. Christians in Crete revolted, by way of showing their disapproval, and asked Greece to annex their island. A Greek military force was sent to Crete. Turkey at once declared war, thrashed Greece in one brief campaign and wrung from the beaten country a heavy war indemnity.

The Balkan peninsula still teems with plot, counterplot, intrigue, misrule and discontent. The Balkan problem will, perhaps, never be solved.

LAVISH LACE ON THE BRIDE; CHIC GOING-AWAY COSTUME

WEDDING bells! What visions of transcendent loveliness are they destined to ring in, with the coming of summer, for bridal processions with each succeeding season seem to be taking on an ever increasing picturesqueness.

If lace were not to contribute a major share of beauty to the bride's costume, it would be surprising indeed, for this is pre-eminently a lacy season. To such an extent has lace smart short-jacket tailored suit, or a three-piece ensemble of beige crepe, faille silk or fine worsted, or a stunning long coat posed over a simple little crepe frock. Which shall it be?

Considering the tremendous vogue now on for the two-piece tulle, one is tempted to make it first choice, especially if the bride-to-be is possessed of a youthful slender figure. If one has the happy faculty of wearing a suit attractively, then select the suit.

LOVELY BRIDAL COSTUME

captured the fancy of the mode, that not only is the bride swathed in lace, but the apparel of the guests presents a galaxy of frocks and wraps styled of lace. For these, preference is shown Chantilly either colorfully dyed or in black or even the metal faces retain their share of style prestige.

For the bride, be her gown of satin, georgette, crepe or supple velvet, lace elaboration marks its styling. The picture presents a winsome exponent of the lace-garmented bridal robe as exploited among present-day modes. In addition to insets of rare lace there are innumerable frilly lace edgings running hither and thither in pretty confusion. The hemline takes on a graceful deep scalloping which adds yet another charm to this frock. Nor is this penchant for lace confined to

For the bride's honeymoon trip such a suit as here pictured is of assured appeal. It is tailored of finest navy twill, being braided most exquisitely at the front coat edges, which are so designed as to reveal a clever satin waistcoat in burnt toast coloring. The molded-to-the-head hat is of navy grosgrain ribbon. Note especially the handsome pointed fox neckpiece thrown over the arm. The last word to fashionables is the separate fur of either pointed, platinum or beige fox.

If not a suit, then perhaps the bride may decide upon a three-piece ensemble. The latest is the beige jumper or one-piece frock of crepe or faille or tucking, accompanied by a full-length coat of velvet in perfectly matched coloring. If one prefers the coat may be of the same material as the dress, for its mission to beautify and adorn extends to the veil which it borders most daintily.

Independent of any suggestion of trimming are the smart and very new tulle bridal gowns. For the young and slender bride a bouffant tulle frock is exquisite. For the stately bride gleaming white satin of simple silhouette, as ever, ranks as a classic.

Your choice, June bride-elect—for your going-away costume either a

The de luxe bride can also well afford to take with her one of the new chenille woven coats as shown to the left in the picture. It is delightfully colorful, yet in no way transgresses the laws of good taste.

Strait Famous in History

The strait leading from the sea of Marmora to the Black sea, on which stands the ancient city of Constantinople, is called the Bosphorus. The name means "ox-ferry." On the north side is a gulf known as the Golden horn, and this body of water forms the harbor of Constantinople.

Every noble activity makes room for itself.—Emerson.

No Hope

"Whilst I was in town yist'd'y," in the crossroads store, related Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, "I seed a man painting the church steeple. He was setting on a seat on a rope away up yander and a lot of people stood around gawping at him. A feller bawled me for a dog swap, but I says: 'Wait till this painter falls down, and I'll j'ine you.'"

"Shucks!" says the dog feller. "He hain't a-going to fall. He painted it about three years ago, and didn't fall then. Come on!"—Kansas City Star.

Electricity in Signaling

The newest use of electric lamps is secret signaling for military purposes. By properly screening signal lamps with certain materials only the Infra-red rays, which are invisible to the naked eye, are released. These are received at various distances by sensitive apparatus which will sound buzzers and otherwise respond to the rays even though nobody in that region except the operators is conscious of the fact that the peculiar light is being transmitted.

Donkeys' Hours for Labor

In England the donkey is very largely in evidence and frequently these little beasts are overloaded. An ordinance recently adopted by the Latham St. Anne's town council provides that no persons over sixteen years of age or weighing over 98 pounds shall ride a donkey, also that a donkey should be worked from 9 to 1 and then have an hour for luncheon, his harness being removed. After dinner he can work until 6 p. m.

Rivals

On a recent motor trip in northern Minnesota we stayed one night in a small Indian village.

On the lake shore that night the Indians danced about a huge bonfire. Sometimes 40 at a time would dance. Some would rest while others danced, but two handsome young braves danced all night.

Upon inquiring we were told there was to be a wedding that night as soon as one of the young braves felt exhausted. It seems they were rivals for the same maiden's hand. She was willing to marry either one, and did marry the victor after several hours' dancing.—Exchange.

Parentheses

We have it on the word of Missolini that "women are the agreeable or pleasant parentheses of life." We who had always been told they were question marks are glad they're settled now. . . . Speaking of the current styles you could call some of the fair ones exclamation points and not be far wrong. . . . Of course since the Charleston has seized the land more women stand on foundations like () (than like O. . . . At that, it is a woman's influence that changed many a male O into a I. . . . And in some households the lady is not only the parenthesis but the whole sentence.—Detroit News.

WHO'S WHO & HAT'S WHAT! IN OCEAN BEACH

Business Directory—Alphabetically Arranged
Service for "Strangers Within Our Gates"

OCEAN BEACH is famous as San Diego's greatest residential seaside community and is situated only six miles from the metropolitan district, with which it is connected by fast electric railway service and the paved coast highway. It is the most thriving and populous section of the peerless Point Loma peninsula, with ideal climate, wonderful productive soil and scenery unsurpassed. Wide avenues lead from the heights to the seashore and nearly all streets are paved and sidewalked, with a complete paving program in progress from the bay frontage to beautiful Sunset Cliffs. Ornamental lights adorn the main business section, while modern commercial structures and fine new homes, cottages and bungalow courts are constantly in course of construction. This delightful suburb has exceptionally good schools, churches, civic clubs, mail carrier service and all that makes life really worthwhile as is well attested by the appended list of prominent and progressive business interests:

VICTORY FOR AMERICAN IDEALS

The feat accomplished by Col.
Lindbergh is typical of American enterprise. He did more than merely fly across the Atlantic successfully, he carried American ideals forward to another victory.
Practical ideals are what make a nation great, says the Industrial News Bureau and the Manufacturer, of Salem, Oregon.

This country never faced such a period of prosperity as appears to be ahead of it.

And therein lies our greatest danger.
Can we as a nation keep our head and not become soft and discontented?

Will we in our quest for more of the nimble dollars allow political sooth-sayers to undermine our government with visionary schemes at public expense?

Will material prosperity give us the "swellhead" and cause us to feel that we are too "important" to attend to the troublesome little affairs of government?

If this attitude overtakes us,
look out for trouble.

As individuals we are "small potatoes" in the scheme of economic development.

But if each individual does his part to maintain American ideals and sound conditions in government and industry, "small potatoes" will grow into big potatoes and our national "potato crop" (stability, security, prosperity) will be on a safe and enduring basis.

New CALIFORNIA THEATER

Gloria Swanson is coming to the New California theatre for one week, starting today, in a story of magic attractiveness, entitled, "The Love of Sunya."

The famous screen actress will be seen in five different characterizations. Gloria Swanson, in the incarnation of an Egyptian girl centuries ago. Gloria Swanson, a modern American girl, south by a rein-carnate Yogi. Gloria Swanson, the "bought" wife of the millionaire.
Gloria Swanson, promaturely aged school teacher, battling to support her family.

Those are the characterizations which Gloria moves triumphantly through a picture of conflicting love, duty and ambition. "The Love of

EXPRESS CHOICE FOR EASTERN STAR OFFICERS

At a large gathering of members of the Order of Eastern Star and those eligible for membership, the regular meeting of the Peninsula Eastern Star club, took place last Monday evening at the Masonic hall on Newport avenue, with Mrs. Katherine Smith the president, presiding. After the business routine, Mrs. Smith explained that the balloting for choice of officers for the new Eastern Star Chapter was duly in order, but could not be definitely decided because it was not an election but a selection, owing to the fact that Mr. R. H. Griest, grand patron of the state of California, appoints all officers for any new chapter. Mrs. Smith also gave emphasis to her repeated statement that she was not to be considered in the nominations for any office, owing to health and business reasons, and respectfully requested that her name be omitted in the balloting. The list of names selected will be duly submitted to Mr. Griest, and, upon final consideration by the grand patron, will be publicly announced in accordance with the established custom. Besides a number of visitors, those present who were entitled to express their choice by balloting were Mesdames Carrie L. Borchardt, Katherine Smith, Ida T. White, Olive Kline, Olive Smith, W. W. Plank, Cassie M. Reid, Ella D. Cole, Carrie L. Mason, Grace E. Jensen, Mabel H. Curtiss, Freda Follette, Maud L. Spencer, Kate Spani, Alicia F. Williams, Clara E. Foss, Maude Morgan, Mr. Donald J. Spencer, and Mr. F. A. Plank. Checking of ballots was supervised by Mrs. Y. N. Adams, Mrs. C. F. Miller and Mrs. Thomas I. Hines. Delicious coffee and home made cake were served.

WELCOME VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Paynter of Mission Beach, were welcome visitors at the meeting held by the Peninsula Eastern Star club last Monday night.

ENTERTAINED AT BRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Manning entertained the members of their Escondido bridge club at their home, 4511 Brighton avenue, recently. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Ting, Mr. and Mrs. J. Van Ryan, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Ridley, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Brewer, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gillis. Those receiving high score were remembered with lovely gifts, while dainty refreshments were served at the hour of midnight.

RAPID GROWTH PREDICTED

An Ocean Beach visitor last week was Mr. Herbert S. Mace of Redlands, California. Mr. Mace conducted an evangelistic campaign in the congregational church last fall. Mr. Mace expressed surprise at the rapid growth of Ocean Beach, venturing the opinion that five years time would see Point Loma a thickly settled residence district.

THIS NURSE NOW HAS GOOD HEALTH

Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time and I would not be without it in the house. As I am a children's nurse, I have to be on my feet a great deal and your medicine has helped me wonderfully. I was hardly able to do my housework when I began taking it, and now I am a strong and well woman, able to do all that and go out nursing besides. I have also used the Sensitive Wash and found it beneficial."—Mrs. GERTRUDE L. STEWART, 103 Davis St., Greenfield, Mass.

Valuable for Weakness
"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a valuable medicine for weakness."—Mrs. J. A. PIERSON, Box 397, Lancaster, Pa.
Hundreds of letters like these are received by the Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Grateful women from Pennsylvania to Washington, from Texas to Illinois and from Rhode Island to Nebraska say that their health has improved since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Coyotes Inspire Songs
The plaintive wail of coyotes on the lonely western plains developed many of the colorful, hoisterous songs of the cowboys. The songs were intended to drown out the disturbing notes of the howlers and prevent the cattle from stampeding, Oscar J. Fox of the University of Texas told the National Federation of Music Clubs.
English, Scotch and Irish folk songs were usually the background for the compositions of the cowboys, he said, because most of them in the early days came from those countries.

Feel Stiff and Achy?

To feel constantly lame and achy is too often a sign of sluggish kidneys.

Sluggish action permits waste poisons to remain in the blood and is apt to make one languid, tired and achy, with dull headaches, dizziness and often a nagging backache. A common warning that the kidneys are not acting right is scanty or burning secretions.

Assist the kidneys at such times with Doan's Pills. Since 1885 Doan's have been winning friends the country over. Ask your neighbor!

50,000 Users Endorse Doan's:
George Facemire, 22 Orange St., Bridgeton, N. J., says: "My kidneys were not acting right and the secretions were scant and painful. GOOD THINGS TO EAT

THE time was when the prune was considered beneath the notice of any but the very poor. Times have changed all that, and now the prune is well-established as a choice fruit with the high price.

One reason for the old idea of prunes was the manner in which they were served—carelessly cooked and served.

As the price is higher, the fruit is better appreciated and we are learning how to bring out all the flavor and deliciousness.

The long soaking and then slow cooking in the same water, washing them well first, results in a flavor and sweetness that needs no sugar for the real prune lover.

After they have been thus prepared serve them (three or four) in a nest of lettuce with a sprinkling of nuts if desired, and a good French dressing. Such a salad is so easy to prepare and so well liked that it will be often served, when once tasted.

Prunes stuffed as one does dates, rolled in sugar and served as a confection are most popular.

Prune Roll.

Take one tablespoonful of grapefruit juice, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of flour, two-thirds of a cupful of mashed prunes, one-third of a cupful of seeded raisins. Cover the raisins with one-half cupful of water and simmer for half an hour. To the prunes add the fruit juice, a pinch of salt and the flour mixed with a little cold water. Put in the raisins and cook the mixture until it thickens—about three minutes. Spread on rich biscuit dough rolled out very thin, fold and press the edges together and bake. Serve with cream.

Prune Pie.

Bake a pastry shell and fill with stewed prunes, adding a bit of lemon juice. Top with a meringue, using the white of eggs and two tablespoonfuls of sugar, and dot with quartered marshmallows. Brown lightly and serve. If one wishes to have a richer dessert, whipped cream sweetened and flavored or plain cream with the minced marshmallows stirred in, may be used as a topping.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

THE GREATEST MAN

LORD BRYCE—better known to us as James Bryce, author of "The American Commonwealth"—started something at Williamstown, Mass., when he dropped the remark that Mazaryk, the President of the Czechoslovak republic, was one of the three really great men to come to the front during the war.

The experts from all over the world attending the meetings of the Institute of Politics, began speculating as to who were the other two.

Then, to the surprise of a great many persons, he mentioned Venizelos, the former prime minister of Greece, and Jan Smuts, the clever premier of South Africa.

An American citizen born in Athens, said recently that the Greeks drove Venizelos out of power "because he was too able."

A former Africander, now an American, says that the best way to gain the respect of Britons is to fight them: "Take the case of Smuts," said he. "The biggest man in the empire!"

Well, it is significant that all of Bryce's "Big Three" belong to small nations and that, though the greatest war of all time had just come to an end, he did not mention a single soldier or sailor.

This was not to be explained by the fact that Foch, Pershing, Haig, Petain, and most of the other commanders by land and sea had not made public the diaries and journals that they kept while the fighting was going on.

All the world knew at once who was the greatest man produced by the American War of Independence. Everybody knew at once who was the greatest man produced in the American Civil war. Nobody has any doubt as to who was the biggest man in the Napoleonic wars.

Are we in a period of small men in big places?

Right on top of Lord Bryce's expression of opinion Maurice Case-nave, French high commissioner to the United States, said a strange thing. He remarked that undoubtedly the greatest figure in the history of the English-speaking world is Sir John Falstaff.

That sounds like a joke. But is it? Shakespeare's fat knight—coward, thief—is yet the most lovable of men. He is more real to us than Lloyd George or Clemenceau or others we might name. And when these striking figures have sunk into the mists of history, future generations will be reading with delight how Falstaff, as a young man, used to hear the chimes at midnight.

Never was a greater compliment paid to anybody than that of Bar-dolph to Sir John when he said: "I would I were with him wheresoever he is, whether in heaven or in—!"

That a character, not at all reputable, but invented by the greatest English-speaking genius, should be regarded as a "leading figure in history" shows the triumph of mind over matter and experience.

Do You Know That:—??

"NEST-EGG" is an allusion to the custom of placing an egg in the hen's nest to induce her to lay her eggs there. Similarly if a person has saved a little money it serves as an inducement to him to add to his store.

And so the expression has come to mean something laid up as the beginning of a fund or as a reserve. The nest-egg is like a decoy or an artificial inducement to continue to increase the collection.—Anna S. Turnquist.

A THOUGHT TO THE BUYER

By SYDNEY J. BURGOWNE

THERE are rules on how to treat the man Who buys—but this one tells Of just a splendid little plan To help the chap who sells.

Jump right into the Salesman's shoes

For just a little while— And then I'm sure you won't refuse To greet him with a smile.

He may have traveled all night through

In a stuffy upper berth, Just so that he could bring to you "THE FINEST GOODS ON EARTH!"

His hands are always "in and out"— "In" his pockets for a tip, Then "out" again for just about Each breath he takes on his trip.

The comforts of the snug home-nest That you enjoy so much, He had to leave with all the rest— And then maybe "gets in Dutch."

And though Hotels are often fine, I'm sure if you would try To jump around along the line You'd pity the Poor Guy.

But pullman berths won't seem so small,

Nor hotel clerks so pert, And he won't mind such things at all— The tips he gives won't hurt.

If you just hand a welcome out— Whether you buy or not— Then he'll go on, without a doubt, Happier—by a lot.

So stop awhile and think a bit, And you'll see the common sense Of trying just to look at it From his side of the fence.

Then greet him with the friendly hand, He needs the "dough" and YOU; But don't forget to understand— YOU NEED THE SALESMAN TOO!

THE WHY OF SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

WART CURES

NO DEPARTMENT of folk medicine as practiced in this country appears to be so popular as that which deals with the cure of warts. One of the publications of the American Folk-Lore society gives nearly four pages to a list of magical cures now in vogue for these annoying excrescences.

Mythology and sympathetic magic and old forms of primitive religions are the bases of the "cure." Here are two which are based upon tree worship. Draw a knife across the wart and then draw it (the knife) across an apple tree. Cut your finger nails and place the cuttings in a hole in a tree. Then stop up the hole and "wish the warts onto somebody else."

In both cases the tree spirit is appealed to for a cure. In the first process the transference of the evil spirit residing in the wart to the keeping of the tree god is accomplished by means of the knife, and in the second cure by means of the cuttings of the finger nails. The knife is an iron instrument and, as has been shown, iron is something possessing power over witches and evil spirits. And the finger nails were regarded by the ancients, even when severed from the body, as retaining the "ego" of the man. To transfer finger-nail cuttings was tantamount to transferring the whole man to the keeping of the tree god.

The wishing the wart onto another after the ceremony of the nail cuttings is in the nature of a prayer to the tree god to dispose of the evil wart-spirit by handing it over to another person; thus purging the worshiper of it and providing for it another home so that it may be kept quiet and not seek to return to its former habitat. In the days when all Europe was covered with a dense forest, tree worship was the most extensive and most popular cult, and it is not surprising that we find among our current superstitions of today so many vestiges of it.

A Little Bit Humorous

HOME COOKING

"The Camels are Coming!"

ABOARD FOR AMERICA!

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

"T"HE camels are coming!" No, it isn't the old circus call, nor a paraphrase on words of the old poem about the Siege of Lucknow, nor an announcement of a new prohibition enforcement drive.

The camels, the servants of man since prehistoric times, are coming to Canada, there to work on the lands of certain farmers in Saskatchewan who believe that these ships of the desert may be superior to horses and mules as draft animals. And if the experiment across the international boundary line is successful, it is not at all unlikely that it may be tried in North Dakota, Montana and other states where climate and soil conditions are similar to those in the Dominion.

Over in Russia camels have been used for some time as farm animals and have proved their worth on the plow and the reaper. Several of these camels are already in service in Canada, and the Saskatchewan farmers have ordered 400 more from northern Russia. They are the Bactrian camels which are different from the Arabian camel in being smaller and sturdier, having longer wool and tougher feet, and they are remarkable for their ability to stand extremes of heat and cold. These camels thrive on the plateau of Tibet where the thermometer shoots up to 140 degrees in summer, only to fall far below zero in the winter.

The Canadian farmers who are going to make the experiment are doing so because they believe that the camels will live longer than horses, can walk faster, carry heavier loads and can work longer and under more adverse weather conditions. Bactrian camels are capable of carrying loads of 1,000 to 1,500 pounds and can walk in deep snow in which horses would founder helplessly. The pace of the camel is steady and uniform. How tireless they are is shown by the fact that the lighter type of desert camel has often traversed 300 miles a day. It is believed also that it will cost less to feed the camels than horses because these hump-backed animals will eat almost anything they can find—tough shrubbery and thorny plants.

At any rate, the experiment will be watched with interest by farmers in this country even though it probably will never be adopted on a large scale. It is interesting, also, to recall that the United States government once made a somewhat similar experiment, although for a different purpose. During the Mexican war, Jefferson Davis, later president of the Confederacy but then a colonel in Gen. Zachary Taylor's army, was struck by the fact that camels would be much better than horses or mules for transport service in the deserts of the great Southwest. So when he became secretary of war under President Franklin Pierce he determined to make the experiment, and after some effort succeeded in 1855 in getting an appropriation of $20,000 from congress for that purpose.

Accordingly he detailed Maj. Henry C. Wayne to the task of going abroad and purchasing the camels, and the Navy department ordered Lieut. David Porter, commanding the storeship Supply, to take Wayne on his mission, and him in getting the camels and return them to the United States. Wayne and Porter scoured the Levant

In their quest and soon found that theirs was a difficult task. They visited Tunis, Salonica, Constantinople, the Crimea, Alexandria and Smyrna. The Crimean war was then in progress and England had bought up all the camels available in that part of the country. In other places they found there were laws forbidding the export of camels and in several places they found that they needed the wit of a Yankee horse trader to deal with the wily sultans, pashas and beys and their grafting underlings.

Eventually, however, they got what they wanted, and on February 15, 1856, the Supply sailed from Smyrna with 12 male and 20 female camels and one calf. One adult camel died en route and two of the six calves born on board lived, so that 34 of the animals were landed at Indianola, now Port Lavaca, Texas, a month or so later. The camels had proved themselves good sailors, although their objections to going abroad had to be overcome by the use of block-and-tackle. A special harness had been designed to lash them to the deck as a safeguard against rough weather, but they gave very little trouble in some of the storms that were encountered.

The arrival of the camels in Texas caused something of a sensation, and some of the natives were skeptical of their value as beasts of burden. This was soon overcome, however, when Major Wayne sent one of the animals to a forage barn to carry four bales of hay which weighed 1,256 pounds. After the kneeling camel had been loaded with this burden, it calmly arose and walked away as though scarcely aware of the weight. The camels were next marched overland to their permanent quarters at Camp Verde, 60 miles northwest of San Antonio, and immediately put into transport service where they soon demonstrated their usefulness. In one case six camels, accompanied by two six-mule teams, were sent in to San Antonio to carry back oats. The camels immediately returned to Camp Verde in 54 hours with 3,648 pounds of grain. The mule teams however had to rest in San Antonio a day longer and returned in 96½ hours.

Within a few months the "camel corps" experiment was considered such a success that Lieutenants Porter and Heaps were sent back to the Levant to get another lot of the animals. They returned with 41, and the scope of the "camel corps" activity widened. Lieut. Edward F. Beale used 20 of them to carry supplies while building a wagon road from New Mexico to California in 1857, and during the next four years he continued to use them in exploring trips through remote parts of New Mexico and Arizona.

Despite the apparent success of the experiment, however, an element of discord arose that was due to the temperamental incompatibility of the camels and the men who had charge of them, the American mule skinner. Almost from the start the mule skinner disliked the foreign beasts and as they became better acquainted with the "general cussedness of them ornery brutes," the mule skinner came to love them less and less. So the reports that some of the camels had "become unmanageable and escaped into the desert" became frequent, albeit the camels were frequently added in their "escape" by the men themselves.

Then the approach of the Civil war caused the attention of the War department to be turned to affairs of greater importance and the "camel corps" suffered from neglect. In 1861 the War department had 28 camels at various posts in California without being put to any use. In 1862 Lieutenant Beale wrote Secretary Stanton of their idle condition and proposed to use them for further exploration in the Southwest. But his proposal was rejected, as was the plan he offered for using them in carrying mail between Fort Mojave, N. M., and New San Pedro, Calif. Eventually the herd was sold to Samuel McLaughlin. Some of them were sold to circuses, others to other parties, and soon they were scattered far and wide.

In the meantime the herd at Camp Verde in Texas had passed into the hands of the Confederate government which paid little attention to them, and some of them were allowed to wander away into the desert. The remainder, 44 in number, again came into the hands of the United States government at the close of the Civil war, but they were sold at public auction, for by this time Uncle Sam had definitely given up his camel experiment.

The camels who had wandered away into the desert at various times during the existence of the "camel corps" have an interesting history. They lived half-wild, half-free and were seen from time to time in various parts of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. The Apache Indians, who were at first terrified at the sight of these strange beasts, soon overcame their fear and developed a fondness for camel steak. So many of the animals fell prey to Indian hunters. Others made such a nuisance of themselves by scaring and stampeding the horses and mules of the overland stage lines and freight outfits that war was declared upon them, and white hunters killed many of them. However, as late as the eighties there still were camels in the Southwest and the tradition of "wild camels," reported from time to time by prospectors and cattle men, was a favorite one in that section of the country for many years. The last mention of the survivors of Uncle Sam's "camel corps" was in 1903 when a newspaper in San Antonio carried a story about a camel in a midway show bearing the "U. S. A." brand as well as the counterbrand of a later purchaser.

Similar experiments with camels were tried at one time or another in other states besides those of the Southwest. In 1865 they were used for a time for freighting between the gold camps of that state and in the same year a man named L. S. Musgrave appeared in Denver with two camels. He had an ambitious scheme for a system of camel transport from Omaha to San Francisco via Denver and Salt Lake City, but got little encouragement in the Colorado town. So he departed for Omaha, but there he found that everyone was more interested in the plans for the transcontinental railroad which, three years later, linked the two coasts and his camel scheme was dropped.

Isn't far enough. . . . So the Irishman was right after all when he said: "Somebody to see you on the phone!"

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

by Mary Graham Bonner

SPOT

There was a little rabbit named Spot. He was a little gray rabbit.

You see, over one eye, he had a little round white spot, which was the only part of him not gray, so that when he was a wee bunny he had been given the name of Spot by his family.

Now Spot was a great traveler. His sisters and brothers had moved to other parts of the country, and he was all by himself.

A Great Traveler. He was very fond of travel, so he did a great deal of it.

He would go from one wood to another.

One time he struck a very unfortunate neighborhood.

From outward appearances it was most delightful. Alas, though, he did not know that there was, nearby, a dog.

This dog had the reputation of being very fond of chasing rabbits.

Spot felt quite certain that he had picked out a place where there were no dogs for miles around, and yet there was one less than a quarter of a mile away.

"It didn't take the dog long to find out that Spot had moved to the neighborhood."

The next morning, bright and early, the dog was up. However, Spot was up still earlier.

He had climbed to the top of a hill where he had seen some very fine clover sprouting above the ground.

Suddenly Spot saw the dog starting to run up the hill. Nearly Spot saw a muddy mound.

He rushed for it, and before the dog had time to get up the hill, for it was a long steep one, Spot had burrowed into the mud and patted the part over with his paw where he had got through it, and there he was safe and sound inside the mud ball.

When the dog got to the top of the hill he could see no sign of the rabbit.

He looked everywhere. Of course, it was slightly hot inside the mud ball, but the rabbit had one very tiny air hole.

And he felt safe, too.

The dog thought he smelled something like a bunny near the muddy mound, but he saw no sign of the rabbit.

The little Spot, who had traveled so much, was too clever for the dog, and after the dog wandered away, disgusted and disappointed, little Spot got out of his hiding place, through which even the dog couldn't sniff at him, and laughed hard all by himself.

But that night Spot started off for a new home, as he did not want to run any risks.

He saw no sign of the Rabbit.

Albert Rooke Makes His Comeback

Wins six-year fight for health. Now well and strong at 60. Husky as ever, he praises Tanlac

At 1830 West 39th Place, Los Angeles, lives Albert A. Rooke, a respected citizen with 38 years of active railroad experience. He tells of a very interesting experience.

"About seven years ago," says Mr. Rooke, "my stomach and liver went back on me. It was a most distressing experience. Nothing seemed to agree with me; I lost all desire for food. A sound night's sleep was out of the question, so I rose each morning tired and peevish. Then constipation developed and made life a continuous misery. I lost weight and could hardly drag myself around a good deal of the time. After six years of that I was all in. Along came the 'flu' when I had no resistance left. That was about the last straw. Nothing seemed to help me. On a friend's advice I tried Tanlac, and that certainly did help. I soon began to get refreshing sleep again, to eat with old-time zest. The distressing stomach and liver troubles disappeared. Briefly, Tanlac put me on my feet, with all my old-time vigor and enjoyment of life. I put on weight and after five bottles was as well as ever in my life. That was a year ago. I'm still in fine shape, as you see. Few men of 60 are as well as I am, thanks to Tanlac."

Tanlac is nature's own tonic and body builder, made from roots, herbs and barks by the famous Tanlac formula. Try a bottle—it may do for you what it did for Mr. Rooke. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottles sold.

Terrors of Television

With television in effect the only other problem we've got to face is to make a night club look like the bedside of a sick friend. . . . Be careful when calling up to say that you've been called away suddenly and will be out of town for a couple of days. The poker chips might give you away. . . . By television the human face can be cast hundreds of miles, say the experts. For some, that

Written for "The Beach News" By D. C. CROSBY, Ocean Beach.

The young man and woman with their child went home, showed it to their neighbors as well as it ever was, and told what had occurred at the Snow place. As in the days of the Christ the news spread like a prairie fire, and next morning sick folks began arriving inquiring where the healer was to be found.

He came out of his house and stood at the gate, and as the sick ones came to him he laid one hand on their heads, raised the other up, raised his eyes and said a few words in a language no one understood, and all were healed so far as I could learn.

Cripples threw away their crutches, and all signs of sickness disappeared. I had no way of knowing how long they remained whole but have never heard of a relapse. About a mile from the healer there lived a woman who had been wasting away a long time, and the doctors said her end was near, she could not live more than three days.

She heard of the great healer and said she was sure he could cure her, and wanted to be taken to him. Why her friends said, you could not live to get there. Very well she answered, what if I don't, I have only three days left anyway, no harm to try. Take me there.

So to satisfy her they fixed a couch on an express wagon and took her as near the healer as possible, which was out in a field, for the crowd was immense, and waited there. The healer looked over to where they waited, and then for the first and only time, during the forty days he stood there, he left his stand, put his hand in front of him, parted the host, walked out to the wagon, took the sick woman by the hand and helped her alight, said something to her, and returned to his stand by the gate. The sick woman said she could walk home.

The woman who told me this, lives in San Diego, (or did a few years ago.) Said she was present and saw it all, and that the woman that was so healed lives in Pasadena, California. (Or did then.)

The crowds thronged him so that Mr. Snow at night built a fence in front of the gate leaving a narrow passage through which the people must pass to reach the healer. It was said that in only one case did he refuse to heal; a man came before him and he said, "Begone, get out of my sight, you are a murderer." The rejected one pulled his hat down to cover as much of his face as possible, and hurried away.

A well known citizen of San Diego told me about him several times. He was in Denver in October, 1896 with ill health, and went to see the great healer, but the crowd was so great that after waiting a long time he gave it up as hopeless; as there were train loads of people arriving every day. He described the appearance of the healer, which agrees with that of all others I have talked with about him.

Many who could not reach him the first day, would camp on the ground all night so as to be in line next morning.

MISSION BEACH WOMAN'S CLUB

At the last meeting of the Mission Beach Woman's club on June 10, the members were favored by an interesting and enlightening talk by Miss Josephine Seeman of La Jolla. Miss Seeman spoke on conditions in Italy as she found them last year during her trip abroad. As a compliment to Mess Seeman, the choral club, under the direction of Mrs. Bernice Young sang a song of Miss Seeman's own composition, "Oh Golden California." The next regular meeting will be held Friday, June 24. There has been a new department created to be known as the "Mother's department" of which Mrs. O. M. Van Dorston is chairman.

The Choral club has decided to disband for the remaining summer months, and to reorganize in the early fall. All other activities of the club will continue uninterruptedly as the members feel that there is more to be accomplished through the summer season than at any other time.

The Arts and Crafts class met Wednesday, June 15, at the home of Mrs. F. H. Baumgartner on Bay Side walk. The class is working in lamp shades.

The first of a series of card parties was held Monday afternoon, June 13 at the home of Mrs. John Coker. There were eight tables of cards, realizing a profit of $16. Prizes were made and donated by Mrs. A. G. Edwards. Refreshments consisted of home-made cakes and coffee, the latter being donated by the Adams-Henry company. Candy was furnished by the Izer-Davis company. Mrs. Jean Heineke gave two beautiful violin selections, accompanied by Mrs. A. G. Edwards.

Mrs. F. H. Baumgarten won high prize for five hundred, Mrs. C. T. Shultz, low prize. Mrs. Alfred Christensen had high score for bridge, and Mrs. Maurice Bernardino low score.

BALBOA THEATRE

Raymond Griffith, the inimitable comedian who is distinguished by his high silk hat, is coming to the Balboa theatre for four days, starting Sunday, in his latest starring vehicle, "Wedding Bills."

"Wedding Bills," affords Griffith plenty of opportunity to branch out from the traditional type of screen comedy, for it is said to be packed with new and original ideas and situations. If hearty laughter is any criterion of the success of a comedy, then the critics were right in pronouncing "Wedding Bills," a distinct hit, and reporting that the audiences who have seen it, leave the theatre at the end of the performance still laughing.

Starting Thursday, the Balboa theatre will inaugurate a new policy of introducing refined vaudeville with the feature picture. William Collier Jr., and Mary Astor will appear in a San Diego-made film, "The Sunset Derby," a story of genuine interest and entertainment. Many scenes for the picture were taken at Tiajuana during the last racing season.

There will also be five acts of vaudeville, featuring some of the most notable performers in the country, who will be booked through the West Coast Theatres Inc., booking department, assuring patrons of the Balboa theatre the same high grade, refined entertainment as in the past.

Percy Carr and his Band will furnish the music for the Balboa theatre productions, and for the opening of the vaudeville, Herb Hoey, who made many friends at the New California

MERCHANTS WARNED TO WATCH GYPSY CUSTOMERS EVERY SECOND

The Southern California Retail Druggists' association, warns all merchants against carelessness in the matter of attention to Gypsy customers when they visit retail stores, somewhat as follows:

Various bands of these itinerants are reported to be headed this way traveling in large cars and are coming in large numbers.

They enter a store under the guise of fortune telling in groups of three to five and while one kids the proprietor or clerks, the others are reported to lift anything they can lay their hands on.

As they are said to be exceedingly clever and accomplished shoplifters it is very difficult for a merchant to say definitely that they ever took anything from his store; however, it is a noticeable coincidence that following a visit by a Gypsy band there is a usual list of missing articles such as fountain pens, watches, other jewelry and wearing apparel.

The safe plan is to either watch all of them every second while they are in the store or else put them out immediately. They are thoroughly hardened; it is stated and putting them out does not hurt their feelings.
